

CONSULTING

Helping In-House Legal Departments streamline the process used to deliver legal services.

LAWGISTIC

Perfecting the Profession

Lawgistic's approach to legal consulting services begins with an assessment of the current structure and how that structure might be optimized to further support the business goals. We look at how both people and processes are contributing to the effectiveness of the department, and recommend alternative structures, processes and tools that will further the goals of the law department.

Simply put, we provide Corporate Legal Departments, the support they need to systematically gain a competitive advantage, by designing, building and implementing solutions to optimize their legal services delivery, and making the management more effective.

Some of the most important questions that we help our clients address include:

CONCEPT	KEY CONCERN
Organizational Design, Structure and Staffing	Do we have an effective organization?
Client Integration and Services	How do we meet the current and projected needs for legal services in our organization?
Legal Cost and Resource Management	Are we satisfied with our legal costs and resources?
Work Process, Procedures and Efficiency	Are we operating efficiently through documented policies and procedures and well defined work processes?
Systems and Technologies	Do we have the best systems and technologies to better deliver and manage legal work?
Outside Counsel Management	Are we retaining the right law firms? Are we managing them appropriately?
Performance Metrics and Management	How can we establish meaningful performance metrics and effective reporting systems?

CONSULTING

HOW CAN WE HELP?

As regulatory demands and cost-reduction pressures increase, executives want to know how to optimize their legal departments for business agility.

Our services focus on the following four key areas:

Strategy and Planning
Process and Operational Management
Systems and Technology
Benchmarking

Benefits:

Your legal department will dramatically improve its efficiency, effectiveness and ability to provide quality service to the corporation. It will:

- Reduce unnecessary expenditures
- Improve the capacity, impact and coverage
- Increase the confidence and support of your clients.

Lawgistic can help your legal department find the best solutions to complex operational challenges, such as:

- Management of the corporate legal function in foreign operating units or subsidiaries
- Redesigning internal legal department organizational structures
- Articulating the cost-effectiveness and contribution to profit of corporate counsel

Our consulting work varies in scope, complexity and duration. While some clients seek to achieve a fundamental transformation in the organization and performance of their legal function, others desire a more narrowly focused assessment and improvement in one or several specific areas.

A high-performing, optimized legal department will always deliver value, while gaining power, influence and respect.